Rose Mnzava is a graduate and MasterCard Foundation Scholar from Tanzania and is majoring in Rehabilitation Counseling at Michigan State University. After receiving her degree, she plans to work with people with disabilities and also to educate the society around the importance of taking care of people with special needs. For one year, she was a member of a sign language club as well as a teacher to the people with disabilities, teaching English language and Sign language in high school. During that time, she realized that a greater number of people in the society, especial Tanzania, were having a negative attitude toward people with disabilities. This issue coupled with the fact that people with disabilities are being isolated and neglected in the society due to a lack of knowledge to the family and society and many think that disabilities are due to the superstitions and curse by God. Special Education inspired her to earn a degree that would enable her to help her community. Her main interest is in Rehabilitation Counseling and her long-term goal is to work as a rehabilitation counselor.
